Project Updates

Welcome to spring 2018's update on Stream Mgt. Plans in Colorado! River Network is providing regular information on SMPs to help meet the goal in Colorado's Water Plan that calls for 80% of locally prioritized rivers to have SMPs by 2030. Thanks to funding from the CWCB, Walton and Gates Family Foundations and The Nature Conservancy, River Network is working to enlarge the pipeline of local coalitions that are interested, ready and capable of undertaking stream management plans.

The application for direct assistance to scope and submit a grant to CWCB's Watershed Restoration Program for a SMP in 2018 is now up!

It's been a busy spring! I've helped with SMP workshops in Durango, Craig and Rifle so far. And there are many more to come! Lots of recently funded SMPs are getting underway, and others are making great progress. I'm excited to see so many communities undertaking river health projects, and look forward to compiling resources and best practices this year to help ensure they are effective. As always, let me know if you have news, projects or ideas to contribute!

Featured Resources

CWCB is updating the Statewide Water Supply Initiative \(SWSI\). The update will estimate future available water supplies and gaps under different planning scenarios that incorporate the potential effects of climate change, population growth, and many other factors.

To help implement SMPs, SWSI will improve the statewide database of environmental and recreational projects and create an environmental flow tool to better define flow conditions under the planning scenarios. Learn more in the Env and Rec Methodology Fact Sheet.
